OUR STEAM VESSELS

Annual Report of the Chief Supervising Inspector.

NUMBER OF BOATS COMPLETED

Over Seven Thousand and Where They Are A Decrease in the Number of Lives Lost and Accidents Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Gen Dumont, the chief supervising inspector of steam vessels has sent his annual report to the secretary of the treasury. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1890, the officers of the service inspected 7,063 steam vessels of an aggregate net tonnage of [illegible], distributed as follows: Pacific coast steamers 578, net tonnage [illegible],519; Atlantic coast steamers, [illegible], net tonnage 508,868; western rivers steamers, 942, net tonnage 163,[illegible]; northern lakes steamers, 1,864, net tonnage 517,118; gulf coast steamers, [illegible], net tonnage 67,741.

The total number of officers licensed was [illegible]. The number of lives lost through accidents to steam vessels during the year was 245, a decrease of fifty-six from the number lost in 1889. Gen. Dumont estimates 50,000,000 passengers were carried on steam vessels during the fiscal year. Charges have recently been made in newspapers affecting the competency of the service and Gen. Dumont devotes space in his report to statistical figures to show that his administration compared favorably with previous administrations. In conclusion he says: "I unhesitatingly reiterate, what was said in my report of 1889, namely, that 'No mode of travel at the present day, whether by railway, horse car, carriage, or even the common farm wagon, presents so low a percentage of accidents as travel by steam vessel.'"

Our Locomotives in Jerusalem.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Henry Gillman, United States consul at Jerusalem, has informed the state department that three locomotives of American make have arrived at Jaffa for the Jerusalem and Jaffa railway. "It is of interest to our citizens, and, indeed, the entire world," says Mr. Gillman, "to know that the first locomotive ever used in this ancient land was made in the new world—in the United States of America."

Will Not Be Prosecuted.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Since the dismissal of Postmaster Wheat, of the house of representatives, there has been some suggestion made that he would be prosecuted in the criminal court for taking a bribe. The matter has been given some attention in the district attorney's office and it is understood that the opinion arrived at is that the law applies to officers of the United States and not the subordinate officers of congress.

Industrial Exhibition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The department of state has been officially notified that an industrial exhibition will be held at Lyons, France, in the year 1892, in which the departments of silk and electricity will be open to exhibitors from all nations. A cordial invitation is extended to American exhibitors.

The White House Being Renovated.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The White House is being renovated, and in order to escape the smell of paint the president will probably go duck shooting in Maryland until the painting is finished. If he should decide to go, he will leave in a day or two and remain for the rest of the week.

South Dakota's Population.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The population of South Dakota, as announced by the census office yesterday, is 327,848, an increase since 1880 of 229,580. The population of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., 10,154, increase, 7,990.

Antiquarian Society.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 22.—The American Antiquarian society held its annual session here yesterday. Hon. Stephen Salisbury presiding. The usual reports were read and adopted and the following officers elected: President, Stephen Salisbury, of Worcester; vice presidents, Hon. George Bancroft, of Newport, and Hon. George F. Hoar, of Worcester, also members of the council and publication committee and other minor officers. The afternoon was devoted to the reading of historical papers and discussion.

Changes in a Sheriff's Office.

ALBANY, Oct. 22.—Governor Hill has removed from office the sheriff of Madison county, Leander W. Burroughs, and appointed in his place William T. Manchester, of Hamilton. Sheriff Burroughs is a Republican as is also his successor. The removal is based upon charges filed alleging the presentation to the board of supervisors as false, fraudulent and illegal charges against the county of Madison, moneys not disbursed and illegal fees exacted.

Narrow Escape from Death.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—City Counsellor Leverett Bell's residence, No. 3700 Westminster place, was partially destroyed by fire at 5 o'clock this morning. Mr. Bell and wife, his three daughters and two servant girls were asleep in the upper stories and were not awakened until the flames had gained considerable headway. Their escape from being burned to death was a very narrow one. The loss will amount to $15,000, partially insured.

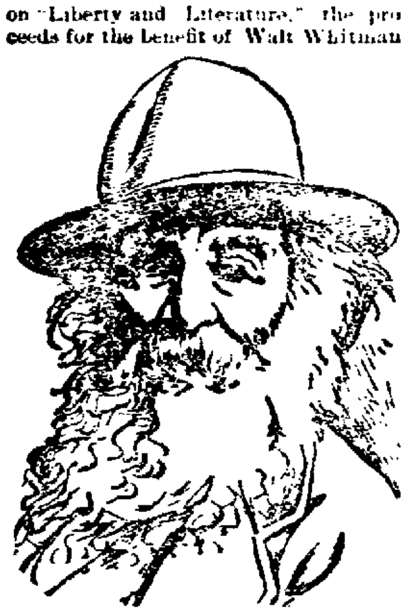
Beaten and Robbed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—About 9 o'clock yesterday morning two men entered the residence of J. W. Irvine at 46 West Eighteenth street and, after beating Mrs. Irvine almost to insensibility, robbed the house securing about $100 in cash. The robbers so far have escaped arrest.

WALT WHITMAN

Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll Lectures for the Benefit of the "Good Gray Poet."

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—Col. Robert G. Ingersoll lectured last night at Horticultural hall to an immense audience on "Liberty and Literature," the proceeds for the benefit of Walt Whitman.



WALT WHITMAN.

Col. Ingersoll introduced his lecture by saying: "At this time a young man—he to whom this testimonial is given—he, upon whose head have fallen the snows of more than seventy winters gave to the world a book, 'Leaves of Grass.'

"This book was, and is, the true transcript of a soul. No drapery of hypocrisy, no pretense, no fear. All customs were forgotten or disregarded, all rules broken—nothing mechanical—no imitation—spontaneous, running and winding like a river, multitudinous in its thoughts as the waves of the sea—nothing mathematical or measured.

"His book was received by many with disdain, with horror, with indignation and protest—by the few as a marvelous, almost miraculous, message to the world—full of thought, philosophy, poetry and music. Since the year 1855 the American people have developed. They are somewhat acquainted with the literature of the world, and I propose to examine this book and to state in a general way what Walt Whitman has done, what he has accomplished and the place he has won in the world of thought."

Col. Ingersoll then entered into his theme with spirit, and eulogized Mr. Whitman, recounting his many acts of kindness, to the young especially; speaking of him as a philosopher, and passing on the lecturer recited and commented on the poem, "A Word Out of the Sea," and the lines on the death of Lincoln, "When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloomed." The poem, he said, will last as long as the memory of Lincoln.

"In this one book, in these wondrous 'Leaves of Grass,' you find hints and suggestions, touches and fragments of all there is of life that lies between the babe, whose rounded cheeks dimple beneath his mother's laughing, loving eyes, and the old man, snow-crowned, who, with a smile, extends his hand to death."

The venerable poet, to whom the occasion was a testimonial, sat in his wheel-chair on the stage, and at the conclusion of Col. Ingersoll's oration rolled himself forward, and in a feeble voice tendered his thanks to the audience and to Col. Ingersoll, finishing his remarks by exclaiming, "Hail and farewell, hail and farewell." The scene was very impressive.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 22.—William Haightly, who kicked his wife to death in this city last June, was yesterday convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to two and one half years in the house of correction. The prisoner surprised the court by asking that his sentence be made three years in the state prison so that he could learn a trade, but the request was not granted.

Stricken With Apoplexy.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—Charles Wetherell Keim was stricken with apoplexy last night while out driving, and died shortly afterward. Mr. Keim was secretary and treasurer of the Consolidated Coal company and secretary of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania railroad. He was a brother-in-law of President Mayer, of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Striking for an Advance.

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 22.—The employes of the Central Iron and Steel company's blast furnace here struck for fifteen cents advance on daily wages. The strike does not affect the company's rolling mill and turn-buckle factory. The furnace is now operated by non-union men. The wages paid at present averages $1.55 a day for twelve hours.

A Dude Comes to Grief.

NEWARK, O., Oct. 22.—Polite circles were shocked by the arrest of Charles Devereaux for jumping his board bill. He recently came from Chicago and cut quite a swath among genteel society, and by misrepresentations ran up large bills. He admits his plain everyday name is Charles Brown.

Liquor Dealers Arrested.

PAW PAW, Mich., Oct. 22.—Seventeen liquor dealers were arrested in this county yesterday under the local option law, which the supreme court decided constitutional. This is the only dry county in the state, and the result of these cases will be watched with much interest.

Quarter of a Million Will.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The will of the late Andrew N. Perrin, disposing of an estate of $250,000, was admitted to probate yesterday. The entire estate is bequeathed to members of the family of the testator.

THE GRAND OLD MAN

Gladstone Speaks in Edinburgh, Scotland

LISTENED TO BY THOUSANDS.

He Makes His First Speech in the Scotch Campaign—He Says That the Irish Problem is the Most Important Question Now Before the Public—Other Foreign News.

EDINBURGH, Oct. 22.—Mr. Gladstone delivered the first speech of his Scotch campaign yesterday in the Corn Exchange, this city. There was a tremendous crush of people eager to see and hear the great Liberal leader, and when the hall had been crowded to suffocation thousands of disappointed persons were left outside, to return home or listen to speakers of lesser note who addressed overflow meetings in the open air. The audience in the hall numbered about 5,000. Mr. Gladstone was enthusiastically greeted on making his appearance. He was in excellent health, and his voice was clear and strong. He spoke without visible sign of fatigue.

In opening his address he remarked that though many questions of importance were before the public, the problem which continued to eclipse all others and to demand the almost undivided attention of those who strove to promote the well being of the nation, was the Irish problem. The country had come to recognize the fact that this question must be settled before other questions could be dealt with. It was one which affected the health and vitality of the state so intimately that, in truth, no other question could be properly considered while this remained in menace.

The opponents of Home Rule had hoodwinked and deluded their constituency before the election, by pledging themselves not to rely upon brute force in the government of Ireland. They had promised to provide an effective system of local self-government for that part of the kingdom. They had put themselves on record as opposed to any advances from the British treasury for the purpose of buying estate from landlords in Ireland. How had these pledges, upon which the people had granted them the reins of government, been adhered to in the actual history of their administration? The very first important measure proposed by the present government on its accession to power, was a measure for the government of the Irish people by coercion. This had been the favorite bantling of the Tory fathers. True, a local government bill had been brought in, but it was a feeble offspring, poorly nourished, and so badly neglected that it was rapidly dwindling into nothingness.

As to the third pledge, it had apparently been wholly forgotten, for, in the proposal pending before parliament in regard to expropriation of Irish estates, there was a provision by which forty million pounds of money drawn from the British people by taxation was to pass into the pockets of holders of land in Ireland. Mr. Gladstone proceeded to discuss the provisions of the land purchase bill, and subjected the measure to a severe criticism, in which his well known skill in financial analysis was exhibited so strikingly as to elicit round after round of applause from his closely attentive audience.

Mr. Gladstone challenged the government to grant a general election, and asserted with confidence that should an appeal to the country be allowed, the result would prove that the people had been won over by Conservative misgovernment to the approval of the experiment of Home Rule. With this great question settled on terms honorable alike to England and Ireland, the last fortresses of bigotry and oppression would succumb to the attack of Liberal principles. Justice to Ireland would rid the empire of an intolerable nuisance and deep disgrace, and would gild with a brighter glow than any former period the closing years of Victoria's glorious reign.

Mr. Gladstone's address was frequently interrupted by applause, and its close was followed by long-continued cheering. After a brief rest Mr. Gladstone, with his wife and a few intimate friends, attended the concert of Mme. Patti. A dense crowd gathered outside the building and wildly cheered the ex-premier as he entered. His appearance in the hall was the signal for another outburst of enthusiasm. After the concert he had a long interview with Mme. Patti, and at its conclusion the famous songstress presented the great statesman with a box of voice-lozenges, which he accepted with evident pleasure.

Jewelry Robbers in Court.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—An American named Wright and two women named [illegible] and [illegible], were arraigned in a police court yesterday on a charge of robbing a jeweler in Cheapside of a diamond brooch valued at $550. It is believed that the prisoners are implicated in other jewelry robberies that have occurred in London. They were remanded for trial.

Portugal and England.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Senhor Sousa, the new prime minister of Portugal, has requested Lord Salisbury to suspend further operations at the Zambesi and other disputed points of East Africa until the new ministry has had an opportunity to lay the whole subject before the cortes. He also expresses friendly feelings toward England.

Alarmed at Military Demonstrations.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Zanzibar says that the Sultan of Vitu, alarmed by the joint British and German military demonstrations, has offered to send to Zanzibar the heads of all those who were concerned in the murder of German traders, and that he has the murderers now in cages awaiting their fate.

Troops to Protect Residents.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 22.—Troops have been placed in the Christian quarter of Erzeroum by the governor of Armenia, to protect the residents from apprehended pillage by Moslems, a number of whom have been arrested on suspicion of being engaged in a plot to rob.

Caravans Plundered by Brigands.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 22.—The caravan routes between Erzeroum, in Armenia, and Trebizond, 120 miles northwest of Erzeroum is infested by brigands, who have attacked and plundered a number of caravans.

MYSTERIOUS BOX.

It Contains the Body of a Young Lady Apparently Alive.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Setteley, of New Holland, a small village twelve miles from here, received a box by express from Mount Vernon, O., Sunday, on which, above the address, was written the word, "Suicide." When the lid was removed Mrs. Setteley was horrified to find that it contained the body of her daughter, Helen. The woman summoned physicians and asked that a post-mortem examination be held.

As the doctors were assisting in removing the body from the box they noticed that the evidences of death were not there. No rigidity was apparent. The hands were found to be warm and a slight flush appeared on the cheeks. Restoratives were applied, but to no avail. These conditions were the same throughout the night and all of Monday. The physicians are puzzled and wonder how it is possible for a vestige of life to remain after the confinement in the box. The authorities have been notified and are doing their utmost to solve the mystery.

COLLISION ON A BRIDGE.

Passengers Have a Narrow Escape on the Boston and Maine Road.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 22.—There was a narrow escape from a bad railroad accident on the Boston and Maine railroad about 7 a. m. yesterday. The south-bound Montreal express, to avoid a freight train on the main track here, was switched upon the up-track, and after proceeding about fifty yards it collided on the Pawtucket canal bridge with the north-bound way freight.

By the quick use of brakes the speed of both trains was checked, thereby preventing such a shock as might have damaged the bridge or thrown the cars into the canal. As it was, the cow-catchers of both engines were smashed to splinters and the baggage car of the express train telescoped the tender of the locomotive, smashing the bumpers and its own platform. The passengers in the sleepers received a violent shaking up.

PRAIRIE FIRES.

Hunters Report Great Destruction in the Sioux Reservation.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—A Pierre, S. Dak., special to The Tribune says: A party of hunters just returned from the Moreau river county running partly through the Sioux reservation, report a vast prairie fire which is devastating a large scope of country.

They were camped four days ago at Cavehills, which have been burning coal beds since the first knowledge of the county, and assert they saw fire blown from a burning pit by a whirlwind, which fired the prairies all about. There is great apprehension that fire may spread and reach the immense coal fields along the source of the Bad river, 1,000 acres of which were recently taken by the Milwaukee road.

Railroad Collision.

JOLIET, Ill., Oct. 22.—A collision occurred yesterday forenoon on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Outer belt line, just west of the trestle bridge, between an east-bound freight and a west-bound gravel train, causing the death of Thomas Lawler, assistant foreman, and injuring four other men. David Davis was badly injured internally and will die. Thomas Davis had a shoulder broken. Joseph Bolasniki's legs were broken and W. Welker was badly bruised. The engineers and firemen of both trains jumped in time to save their lives. The collision was caused by a misunderstanding of orders.

Vigilant Committee Formed.

DENVER, Oct. 22.—A vigilance committee was formed here yesterday to avenge the death of Mary Dezlarelli, a young girl, who was murdered yesterday morning by Ramon Lopez because she refused to accept the latter's attentions. It is reported that the girl's mother is dying from the shock of her daughter's death, and her father is nearly bereft of reason.

Begged for Death.

BUFFALO, Oct. 22.—William Egan, of Utica, had his legs badly crushed and terribly injured about the head yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. He tried to board a belt line train and slipped under the wheels. He cannot live. Egan presented a sickening appearance and appealed to the bystanders to shoot him and end his misery.

The Coroner Says He is Guilty.

RONDOUT, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The coroner's jury yesterday found James Morrissey, of Hurley, guilty of causing the death of his brother Joseph, by setting fire to the bed upon which he was lying, and the prisoner will be held to await the action of the grand jury. It is generally believed that Morrissey is insane and will ultimately be sent to an asylum.

A Woman Terribly Burned.

LIMA, O., Oct. 22.—While George Deathridge was making medicine for rheumatism the ingredients took fire. His wife in trying to put the fire out got into the flames with her dress and was terribly burned.

OHIO LEGISLATURE.

Proceedings of Both Branches of the Special Session.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

It Recommended That the Present Cincinnati Board of Public Improvements Be Abolished and a New One Appointed by the Mayor to Serve Until Next April, When a New Board Can Be Elected by the People.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—At the forenoon session of the Ohio legislature yesterday morning a resolution was passed stating that the action of the house Monday was not intended, by the majority, as a snub toward Governor Campbell. The resolutions also provided another appointment of a committee to visit the governor and request that he submit his message to the house. The message was then sent in by Governor Campbell, and read to the house. It is as follows:

To the General Assembly:

You were summoned here to perform a plain and imperative duty. After a special session of several days, having been unable to agree upon the form of relief for the city of Cincinnati, some further suggestions are in order.

In the message sent you last Tuesday it was recommended that that the board of public improvements be abolished, and its successor elected at the forthcoming November election. Since that time it has become evident that no legislation can be perfected until within less than a fortnight of said election. It is now apparent, also, that the people of that city will not be able, in the time allotted them, to sufficiently consider nominations for such offices, and to thoroughly canvass the merits of such persons as may be nominated.

It is admitted that the two great political parties will make nominations through their existing committees. Those committees were not created for such a purpose, and do not enjoy the respect of the people of the city of Cincinnati to a degree sufficient to give public confidence to their nominations. It is obvious, therefore, that the election of said board by the people cannot be properly prepared for and held prior to the municipal election of next April; and to the extent of recommending that such election be held in April instead of November, the message sent to you last Tuesday is hereby modified.

It is recommended, however, that in lieu of the present board of public improvements, a non-partisan board may be created, to be appointed by the mayor, who, as the executive head of the city government, ought to be responsible for its boards; and, having himself been elected by the people of that city, such appointment would be in conformity to the doctrine of "Home Rule!"

Since you assembled, it has been clearly demonstrated that, although no pains or expense have been spared to send a lobby here to mislead and intimidate you, nobody in the city of Cincinnati could be found for their purpose other than those having a direct personal interest in said board. This sufficiently proves how low the board itself has fallen in public estimation.

Those of you who felt a doubt whether the board was distrusted by the people, have now no longer any reason for delay. Those of you who conceded slight changes from your views because you decided to have harmonious action on the part of the political party holding the majority in the general assembly, must now realize that the pretended desire for such harmony on the part of certain members was mere duplicity. Those of you who belong to the minority party, but who refused, under caucus decree, to vote for any legislation, must, on reflection, feel that your action was unwise and unpatriotic. Therefore let one more appeal be made to you to do just what was recommended before—abolish the board, and refer the selection of its successor to the people as soon as existing conditions will safely permit. Let the handful of schemers who are scuffling in the dirt before you hoping for some petty personal gain, be overlooked.

Remember the great body of the people of Ohio who stand amazed at the scenes enacted here last week; who have read with disgust that notorious lobbyists sat in the hall of legislation, openly directing the votes and speeches of members; and who are fast learning to despise those who obstruct honest government and home rule.

The plain duty before you is to permit no deviation from the path marked out. Let no specious amendments or changes be permitted. Do not swerve a hair's breadth from your purpose to wipe out the board, and eventually submit the whole question to the people. From this time on any and all propositions other than this are meant for partisan advantage only. There is no middle ground. To delay longer is a confession of incapacity—to refuse the passage of the bill is a confession of infidelity.

JAMES E. CAMPBELL.

It was referred to the judiciary committee and the house adjourned to 3 p. m. Upon convening in the afternoon, further consideration of the matter was deferred to 3 p. m. Wednesday.

The senate in the afternoon passed the Sonerant bill in an amended form. It provides for the abolishment of the present board of public improvements of Cincinnati, and appointment of a non-partisan board by the mayor, which shall serve until next April. At the April election a new board is to be elected by the people, two to serve two years and two to serve one year. A motion to reconsider was lost, so the passage of the measure, so far as the senate is concerned, is final.

Indications late Tuesday night were that there would be a speedy adjustment of the legislative difficulty and sine die adjournment would follow Wednesday, probably.

The Republicans in caucus agreed to support the bill for abolishing the Cincinnati board of public improvements and giving Mayor Mosby power to appoint a new one until April next, when the election of four new ones will take place.

Accordingly, Senator Sonerant by amending the bill introduced by him last week, brought a measure embodying these features before the senate, and it passed with a whirl, all the Republicans and all the Democrats except Brown, of Hamilton, Wallace of Franklin, and Ryan, of Lucas, voting for it. It is expected that the bill will become a law in the house Wednesday under a suspension of the rules, as all the Republicans and many Democrats will support it.

Original Package Houses in Iowa.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Oct. 22.—Original package houses are beginning to open here in view of the recent Kansas decision. The city authorities are arresting the proprietors and fining them $50 a month, as was done before congress passed the bill. There are at least 300 places where liquor is sold, but these places will be closed up by the authorities and only the respectable original package houses allowed to run.

Probably Insane.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—Mary Betzdorf, aged 16, who poisoned her brother and Miss Broadwaters "for fun" by putting strychnine in their coffee, pleaded guilty to the charge of murder. The judge remanded her for sentence. She will probably escape a death sentence on account of her youth and alleged insanity.

Physician's Body Incinerated.

BUFFALO, Oct. 22.—The body of Dr. A. B. Carpenter, who was a prominent physician of Cleveland, O., was incinerated at the Buffalo crematory yesterday afternoon. A number of prominent Cleveland physicians accompanied the remains and witnessed the cremation.

World's Record Lowered.

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Oct. 22.—The stallion Nelson trotted a mile here yesterday in 2:10 3-4, lowering the world's record one-half second. A large crowd witnessed the performance. The time by quarters was 33 3-4, half 1:05 3-4, three-quarters 1:38 1-2, mile 2:10 3-4.

Death of an Army Officer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Gen. J. C. Sullivan, who commanded a division under Rosecrans, and fought the battle of Iuka, died at Oakland yesterday afternoon from hemorrhage. He was brevetted brigadier general after the battle of Kernstown.

Doomed Prisoner Respited.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—At the last moment Governor Campbell granted a respite to Henry Popp, condemned, to have been hung Wednesday morning for murdering Moritz Greather, of Canton, until Nov. 28.

Premature Powder Explosion.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Oct. 22.—Four men were killed at Collinston, Utah, Thursday, by the premature explosion of a powder blast.

Died from Morphine.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Oct. 22.—Frederick Harden took an overdose of morphine to cure cramps, and died.

OUGHT TO BE LYNCHED.

A California Lover Who Shot His Sweetheart and Failed on Himself.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 22.—Mary Dezenelli, aged 22 years, was shot and instantly killed Monday morning by Ramon Lopez. Lopez had been bothering the girl with his attentions for some time past, and had made threats of violence against her. He went to her father's residence and called her out to the gate, but she refused to have anything to do with him.

He drew a revolver and shot her through the body, killing her instantly. Lopez then shot at himself twice, without effect, and shortly afterward an officer came up and Lopez fired three shots at him without effect. Lopez was arrested and taken to Ventura for safe keeping, as threats of lynching were made.

Famous Counterfeiter Dead.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—Pete McCartney, one of the most famous counterfeiters in the United States, died at the penitentiary here yesterday. When he died he was serving a ten years' sentence for passing counterfeit money in New Orleans in 1888. McCartney was an educated man, and had made a thorough study of the act of engraving and its application to criminal ends. His most successful work was on government bonds, and he once made a $1,000 United States bond so perfect that it was actually redeemed at the treasury, and the holder of the genuine was later arrested and charged with counterfeiting.

Perils of the Ocean.

ROCKLAND, Me., Oct. 22.—A letter from O. M. Clark, steward of the ill-fated ship St. Mary, of Bath, has reached L. D. Carver, of this city, a brother of Capt. Carver. The letter says that the ship was run into when off Cape Horn by an unknown vessel. They were running back to Port Stanley for repairs when the ship went ashore on the night of Aug. 10. When the ship struck, Capt. Carver seemed greatly discouraged and lived but a few hours. It is supposed that heart trouble was the cause of his death.

Christian Endeavor.

BUFFALO, Oct. 22.—The state convention of the societies of Christian Endeavor, convened in the Central Presbyterian church yesterday morning, about 1,300 delegates being in attendance. President Henry S. Stebbins, of Rochester, made the opening address on "Those Things Which Are Before." The state secretary, H. H. Bacon, of Syracuse, reported 20,000 members added to the society during the last year. The reports of the executive committee and local committee were presented and a reception followed.

Big Oil Suit Decided.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 22.—An oil suit, involving $350,000, was decided yesterday at Morgantown, W. Va., in favor of the plaintiff, C. J. Garvey & Company, vs. E. M. Hukill. The defendant had forfeited a lease of 380 acres in the Mount Morris oil field, which the owner leased to Garvey & Company. The latter put down several wells, which proved good, and then Hukill brought suit to regain possession of the lease. The property is valued by the plaintiff at the amount named.

Admiral Porter's Condition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Dr. Wales, Admiral Porter's physician, says that he is satisfied that the admiral is not suffering from heart trouble, and that unless something, which it is impossible to anticipate, should occur his patient will soon be as well as usual.

Drowned in a Tub.

SIDNEY, O., Oct. 22.—James M. Barr, postmaster at Kirkwood, while bathing at Dickas Brothers' barber shop at Sidney, was taken with an epileptic fit and drowned in a tub.

A Ray of Hope.

For all who are held by the chains of scrofula or other diseases of the blood comes from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which by imparting the elements of good health and strength to the vital fluid, dissolves the bonds of disease and sets the captive free. No other remedy in existence combines the positive economy, the peculiar merit and the medicinal power of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WEDNESDAY, - - OCTOBER 22

THE Methodist churches over the country are voting this month or next on the question of admitting lady delegates to the general conference. It is hoped the cause of the woman will prosper. If there is one sex that has an especially right to direct matters of church government it is the women. There are cases in Ohio where the women are busy making money to pay church debts that the men are continually contracting. By all means, the mistresses of the oyster supper, the mum social, the strawberry festival and the church fair deserve a voice in conference.

WHEN Upper Sandusky's waterworks were hurriedly completed, while Marion was struggling along between a doubt and a hope, we rather envied our northern neighbor's good fortune. But at this late date Upper Sandusky has rejected the plant because of its great inferiority. Bucyrus has had trouble, too, while our works here are regarded equal to the best anywhere. Our long waiting has been well rewarded, it seems.

THE very excellent audience that was present at Music Hall Tuesday night was a bit of evidence of what a high class of performances would draw here, and in a good opera house the number would be doubled. There isn't any particular reason why Marion should not have a high class of theatrical performances if there was only a suitable place for them.

THOUGH the freezing time is close at hand and there is a big scramble to get new buildings ready for a cold spell, yet new buildings are being begun and the work goes merrily on. Marion is a great town even if there are many things to discourage her ardent well-wishers.

THE fling of the Bucyrus Forum at the republican party which has "but hardly a senator who has not paid from $50,000 to $300,000 for his seat," is the political joke of the season, especially in Ohio. When we remember the Payne and Brice elections the Forum's remark becomes hilariously funny.

HERETOFORE the defeat of republican county candidates has been charged to their unwillingness to make a canvass, but if Mr. Beale is not elected a better excuse will have to be given. That gentleman has done a great deal of hustling and there are indications that it is effective.

BULLY for America! The first railway locomotive to run in the land of Jerusalem has been shipped from Philadelphia to that ancient land. Maybe Mr. Talmage spoke a good word for the American steam engine when he was there.

THE campaign seems to be really opening in Marion at last, but it isn't the lively and interesting affair that a congressional election should bring about. The skirmishing has been quiet and very much out around the edges.

OH, for an orchestra, a worthy musical organization that could add pleasure and finish to a good play. A band of capable musicians could not only secure Marion's esteem but make enough money to handsomely pay them.

THE Mansfield News wants to know who pays the tax of 44.8 cents per yard on tapestry brussels that are sold every day for 42 cents per yard. We give it up.

A Matter of Race Pride.

Scientific Parent (on a stroll)—You see out there in the street, my son, a simple illustration of a principle in mechanics. The man with that cart pushes it in front of him. Can you guess why? Probably not. I will ask him. Note his answer, my son. (To the banana peddler) My good man, why do you push that cart instead of pulling it?

Banana Peddler—Cause I ain't a hoss. —Chicago Tribune.

A Haphazard Hypothesis.

In a physician's office:

"I say, doctor, I wish you'd fix me up something for my stomach trouble. I've got something inside that first comes up and then goes down and then comes back ag'in and faugh! It makes me sick to think of it."

Doctor—You don't mean to say that you've accidentally swallowed an elevator? —Judge.

We Might Be Astonished.

'Tis just as well we cannot know—
And better, too, we may suppose—
What thoughts through woman's brain may go
When, with her two hands [illegible] a sigh,
And powerless to strike a blow,
A fly his weight drags to and fro
Across her tickled nose.
—Chicago Post.

His Last Words.

"Help! Help!" cried a man who was floundering in the water.

"Can't you swim?" frantically cried a man on the bank.

"D'ye think I'd [illegible] for help if I could swim, you blamed fool?" exclaimed the man in disgust as he sank for the last time.—Cape Cod Item.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Speaker Reed is a famous fisherman.

Gladstone estimates his library to contain from [illegible] to [illegible].

J. H. Salmon is a Brooklyn, N. Y., antiquarian. He has a valuable collection of coins ranging from [illegible] B. C. to A. D. 1422.

The Duke of Sutherland, who is something of an art enthusiast, has erected a large organ in the gallery of the grand hall at Stafford House, London.

Bismarck is not a good conversationalist and is a worse orator. While making a public address he sways himself backward and forward and twirls his thumbs.

Paul Johnston, the wonderful mind reader, is so frail and effeminate in appearance that he might be mistaken for a girl if it were not for his mustache.

Mr. Gotschalk, of New York, owns the only genuine and perfect holy shekel in the world. The interesting relic is about 3,400 years old, and was used in King Solomon's temple.

George Washington, of Newport, Ky., who was temporary chairman of the Blue Grass state constitutional convention, is a direct descendant of Samuel, a brother of the immortal George.

The late Duke of Manchester possessed a necklace containing the finest collection of pearls in one ornament in England. It consisted of 253 pearls of large size, as well as many fine diamonds.

Sir Benjamin Baker, one of the constructors of the great bridge across the Forth in Scotland, is one of the consulting engineers of the Hudson river tunnel, in which an English syndicate is interested.

Senator Edmunds has attached to his handsome residence in Washington an outside stairway built on purpose for his favorite dog, which is not allowed to meander through the main hall.

Hale Jenkins, of North Wales, Pa., has in his possession a deed signed by William Penn conveying 480 acres of land in Montgomery township to Thomas Fairman. The great founder's seal is attached.

Vice President Morton's Guernsey cattle received six blue ribbons and won two marks of "high commendation," while his sheep received three blue and three red ribbons at the New York state fair.

Christopher Stanley, an old inventor in Elizabeth, N. J., committed suicide because he was unable to discover perpetual motion. He had experimented for years. He was a fine mechanic, but an eccentric character.

Nicholas Luning, of San Francisco, who died recently worth $15,000,000, was a little "near." Some time ago he growled to an acquaintance: "I've got $5,000 lying idle in the bank because I can't loan it at anything over 6 per cent."

Professor Charles A. Young expresses the opinion that we shall learn nothing more about the sun's corona than was known five or ten years ago until new methods of attacking the problem shall have been discovered.

Twenty years ago Owen McCarthy, a leading merchant of Albion, N. Y., disappeared. He was in debt over $15,000. Recently he reappeared in town. He hunted up his creditors and paid each one in full with interest for twenty years. He had struck natural gas.

TRIFLES IN SILVER.

Cushion shaped salt cellars with scroll feet are pretty and new.

Rose jars of perforated silver and glass are pretty and desirable.

Vinaigrettes of porcelain ornamented in pate surpate are mounted in silver.

A burnished silver mortar in its carriage, which is in dead finish, is a new cigar holder.

Small glass bottles, not as large as the little finger, are mounted in silver as vinaigrettes.

No prettier ornament for the writing table than a little silver clip mounted on a smoked ivory base.

Old fashioned bead purses are made square and are silver mounted. An advantage of the shape is that it can be rolled up and carried in the hand.

Heart shaped perfume cases are small enough to be held in the hollow of the hand or slipped in the glove. They enclose a tiny sponge and the lid is perforated.

Large cylindrical salt bottles intended for the toilet table are of glass with deep overlapping silver covers. Both the glass and silver are striped with fine vertical lines.

A novel silver pitcher has a square body on which is set a circular neck. The lower part is covered with pictures and is oxidized. The round part has spiral repousse forms.

Liqueur sets, consisting of one or two decanters, with the glasses, are held in plain silver bands on a silver base. The glass is ornamented with fine, closely set horizontal engraved lines.

Jardinieres in English plated ware are curiously treated in transparent enamel. The advantage is that they can be kept clean by merely rubbing them off with a cloth. These jardinieres serve equally well as ice coolers.

Tea vases for individual cups are produced in the form of acorns, hearts and bird's eggs. These are both plain and covered with repousse work. The silver is pierced with fine openings that are imperceptible in the carved work.—Jewelers' Circular.

ROYAL FLUSHES.

The empress of Germany dresses with great plainness.

To speak to one of the sultan's wives would be immediate death to the unlucky offender.

The queen of England is a great collector of portraits of those who have distinguished themselves in her service.

Emperor William is a perfect type of an athletic, broad shouldered German soldier, with a deep chest and an erect carriage of the head.

Prince Edward of Saxe Weimar, the German who commands the British army in Ireland, weighs [illegible] pounds. It is hard to find a horse to carry him with any grace or comfort.

The empress of China is said to have two wonderful mirrors recently presented by the emperor, standing fifteen feet high, in carved rosewood frames, and so heavy that it requires fifteen men to carry them.

The Prince of Wales tried to induce the queen to abolish the regulation which forbids British subjects to wear foreign decorations unless they have received special permission to do so, but her majesty insists upon the rule being enforced.

The czar has grown so fat that he is obliged to wear uniforms that appear grotesque, and he rides a heavily built, sturdy brown horse, which is capable of carrying his immense weight. But the horse does not prance with 275 pounds on his back.

RAILWAY BREVITIES.

The report that the [illegible] viaduct at Kinzua, Pa., would be [illegible] soon is erroneous.

The Railway Age [illegible] the use of compartment sleeping cars as a means of securing [illegible].

As soon as [illegible] the new Northern (Manitoba) will be [illegible] miles the shortest route from the [illegible] to St. Paul.

The cost per mile of completed road in 1889 was $[illegible], bonded debt per mile of completed road $[illegible] and cost of road and equipment per mile, $[illegible].

Twenty years ago the Union Pacific was the only railroad crossing the main range of the Rocky mountains. It is now crossed at ten different places—an average of one new railroad a year.

The latest invention in sleeping cars is one in which the berths are hidden under the floor by day while chairs are placed in a similar position at night. The mechanism is very ingenious.

The new Louisiana law which went into effect Sept. 1 makes a passenger rate of three cents a mile instead of five cents, as heretofore charged. It also provides separate cars for whites and blacks.

A running record of 12,061 miles without being stopped for repairs has been made by passenger engine No. 704 on the Indianapolis and Vincennes road, a division of the Pennsylvania company.

The total railroad mileage of the United States in 1889 was 160,544.24 miles, an increase of [illegible] miles over that of 1888, while the mileage of second tracks, sidings, etc., increased [illegible] miles in the same time.

Since the 1st of January 525 miles of railroad track have been laid, 1,407 miles are under construction, 2,166 miles are under survey and [illegible] miles have been projected in Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Louisiana, Texas and Indian Territory.

D. J. Mackey, president of the Mackey lines, credits his excellent health and power of endurance, no matter how hard he works, to the fact that he never lets anything worry him and he neither chews tobacco, smokes nor drinks intoxicating liquors.

The old scheme of a ship railway to connect Lake Huron and Lake Ontario has been revived in Canada. The proposed route is 63 miles long, estimated cost, $12,000,000, would save 428 miles of lake navigation and 28 miles of canal, and three days' time between Chicago and the seaboard.

Engine No. 1293 of the Pennsylvania railroad does more work every day than any other locomotive in the world, making two round trips (468 miles) between Altoona and Pittsburg every week day, and one on Sunday. Its weekly mileage is 3,042 miles, or the equivalent of the circumference of the earth every two months.

Another great trunk line is to be built from New York to Chicago. It is to be known as the American Midland road, and is to begin at the terminus of the Central railroad of New Jersey in Jersey City. The route selected will be by 120 miles the shortest between New York and Chicago. An express train will make the run between these places in eighteen hours.

STRANGE TALES.

A banter at Columbus, Ga., resulted in two men swapping their artificial legs.

A colored boy in Zanesville, O., is named Times Recorder Sammons, after the daily paper published there.

A girl of 13 and a boy only four years older were married at Columbia, Mo., with the full consent of their parents.

In Buenos Ayres the police alone have the right to whistle on the streets. Any other person whistling is at once arrested.

Into a peach tree on his place at Napa, Cal., Rev. Richard Wylie has grafted different varieties of stone fruit until now he gathers from it almonds, plums and three kinds of peaches.

A boy was recently discovered in Midland county, Mich., near Pleasant Valley, whose body is covered with scales marked similar to that of a mud turtle. He will be put upon exhibition.

If a chain were made of alternate links of platinum and silver, and a strong electric current passed through, the platinum links would become red hot and the silver would remain comparatively cool.

A sea lion in the zoological gardens at Paris has distinguished himself by saving the life of a little boy who tumbled into the water and couldn't get out in consequence of the high basin. The lion held him up until help was at hand.

There is a negro woman living near Athens, Ga., who prepares herself for death every night and who is always terribly surprised to find herself alive mornings. She wishes to die in a blue gown, in which she arrays herself before lying down every night.

An ingenious prisoner at Korlaus, Bohemia, recently constructed a watch eight centimeters in diameter with no tools or materials except two needles, a spool of thread, a newspaper and some rye straw. The wheels, posts and cogs are all made of rye straw, which, as is well known, is quite coarse and tough. It runs six hours without winding and keeps good time.

A Shotgun Toll Gate.

A bold highwayman appears to have established a shotgun toll gate in the Pipestone pass, about twelve miles south of Butte, Mont., and is demanding his tolls with a regularity that smacks of the good old days.

About a month since a slender, soft voiced young man, wearing a piece of overalls for a mask, commenced asking for contributions from people passing this point, and all were made tributary, not even the wood haulers being exempt, and he made up in numbers what was lacking in individual amounts. This was kept up for a few days, then the Pipestone was deserted, and the Champion stage was brought under the persuasive influence.

Today word comes to this city that this modern Claude Duval has returned to Pipestone, and that five new victims have been added to the list. The amounts taken in each instance have been small, but the frequency of the demand has made it burdensome, and the people living in that section are organizing to endeavor to discourage his efforts in that line.—Cor. Minneapolis Tribune.

A Clock You Need Never Wind.

T. G. Farrar, of Columbus, O., has invented one of the most peculiar clocks of the Nineteenth century. It consists of a plate glass dial suspended from the ceiling, and all the parts of it that are visible are the two hands, the pivot upon which they swing and the dial. Mr. Farrar worked on the invention for six years before he succeeded in perfecting it. He alleges that the only motive power is the gravitation of the earth, and that the clock will run on forever without winding.

The hands are of tin and are hollow, and perfectly balanced on the pivot. Mr. Farrar says that they are moved by the gravitation of the earth, and it puzzles the spectator to account for the power that raises them after they reach 6:30. All kinds of theories are afloat to account for this. But Mr. Farrar keeps his secret. He insists that electricity is not the motive power.—New York Journal.

A Rattlesnake's Skin for a Belt.

Capt. Wright, the raisin superintendent for Logan & Adams, had a close call the other day. He was running a hand basket along under the vines, and throwing Muscats in it as he picked them. Suddenly he heard a click or snapping sound, as though some part of the basket had broken. Lifting it up he was surprised to find an ugly, wriggling rattlesnake follow. It had struck Capt. Wright's hand and buried its fangs in the wicker handle of the basket an inch from the captain's forefinger. No time was lost in killing the deadly reptile, and its skin is now being fashioned in a belt for a Phenix journalist's sweetheart.—Phenix (Cal.) Herald.

Deer Slaughtered by a Locomotive.

The Eastern Minnesota railway's limited train left Mansfield north bound twenty-[illegible] minutes late. Five miles this side of the station, while the train was running nearly sixty miles an hour, an immense herd of deer dashed across the track at the entrance of a cut. It was too late to stop, and the train struck into the herd, killing a great number. The train passed through the herd, throwing them right and left, but did not stop. When the train arrived here a magnificent specimen buck deer was found dead on top of the engine pilot. The engineer estimates the herd at over 100.—Duluth Cor. St. Paul Globe.

Raising Turtles.

A Dexter youth has recently been engaged in a novel enterprise. By hook or crook he captured a pair of diminutive [illegible] and [illegible] them in an old [illegible]. One morning when he went to examine his treasures he discovered that [illegible] had industriously laid a number of eggs. [illegible] kindly remembered his friends with [illegible] souvenirs of the occasion. He contemplates an extensive system of [illegible] as far as [illegible] of the [illegible] is concerned.—Dexter Gazette.

The slight market for fancy waistcoats is to be accounted for in the fact that the vest openings are much larger than used to be the case, and the neckwear is so much more [illegible] that there is really no [illegible] for the display.

In Plainfield, N. J., a few days ago was buried Allan W[illegible], a well known [illegible]. In accordance with his dying wish his funeral procession was headed by a brass band, and [illegible] societies and about one hundred coaches followed.

MR. AND MRS. BOWSER.

BY MRS. BOWSER.

[illegible] per the [illegible] Mr. Bowser [illegible] overcoat pocket [illegible] and began [illegible] enough to let [illegible] that I [illegible] curiosity [illegible].

"[illegible]ing new on poultry?"

"No."

"[illegible] Hoyle?"

"No."

"What is it?"

"I can tell you the title of it, but you can't understand it. It is a very, very deep work."

"[illegible] You can understand a very, very deep work and I can't?"

"Naturally. Man has the stronger, deeper mind of course. The title of this work is: 'Nature's Diseases and Remedies; Control of the Body by the Mind.'"

"Bosh!"

"Woman! What's that?"

"You are too old to waste time on such nonsense, Mr. Bowser."

"Nonsense! Why, it's the plainest principle of philosophy in the world. The human body is but clay, the soul is immortal. The soul is the mind. The mind ought to be able to control the body."

"Yes, in some cases."

"In all cases, Mrs. Bowser. For instance, you stub your toe. It hurts. You let your mind turn to something else and the pain ceases."

"Humph!"

"That's it! That's the usual way of the ignorant—ridicule what they can't argue and discuss in a sensible manner. I have often wondered if you really had a soul."

"Don't worry yourself, Mr. Bowser. If I haven't got any soul I've got some common sense."

"Very well. It's no use to talk to a person brought up in a log house on the edge of a huckleberry marsh. I know that the mind can control the body. You deny it. I hope to furnish you with proofs within the week."

He was to furnish them that night. We were about ready to go up stairs and he had been out bareheaded and in his slippers to see if the barn door was locked, when he suddenly gave a great start and cried out:

"Gee—mi—ny to Jonson!"

"What's the matter?"

"That tooth tried to jump clean out of my head. Whew! Yi! Hang it."

He sat down to hold his jaw and heave to and fro, and I said:

"Your tooth jumps. It hurts you. You let your mind turn to something else and the pain ceases."

He looked up at me with the glint of pounded glass in his eyes, and was about to reply in kind, when the jumper jumped in on him again and he seized his jaw and yelled:

"Great Scott to scatteration, but I can't stand this! Get me some camphor!"

I got him some, and after a time the pain eased up and he went to bed. He expected me to say something about "Control of the Body by the Mind," but I was waiting. I knew that he wouldn't get off so easily, and could afford to give him a little time. I was just falling asleep when Mr. Bowser suddenly lifted his feet high in air and uttered a whoop which set a neighbor's dog to barking, followed by the remark:

"Thunder and lightning!"

"Mr. Bowser, are you asleep?" I asked.

"Asleep! No! I'm dead! Say, this confounded thing has come back on me! Where's that camphor?"

"On the bureau, dear, but it won't do you no good."

"Oh-h-h-h! Jewhittaker! My stars and soul, but she's jumping my jaw right out of its socket! I've got to have something done for me or I won't live ten minutes!"

"Pshaw, Mr. Bowser—have some spunk about you! What is a little toothache?"

"Grit! grit!" he shouted, as he danced around on one leg. "I've got more grit than any seven families like yours rolled together, but this is awful—awful! Are you going to lie there and see me drop dead?"

"You can stop it if you will. Just lie down and put your mind at work. Think of something else. Think of being out in the woods at a May day festival—beautiful flowers—happy children—green"——

"Green—whoop——!!!——shut up!" he yelled. "Haven't we got any paregoric in the house?"

I had to get up and go down and stir up the fire, and make a warm poultice for his jaw, and fuss around for an hour, and he finally grew easier. Then I said to him:

"Mr. Bowser, you brought home a book last night."

"Never."

"You brought home a book about the control of the body by the mind."

"No, I didn't!"

"In your argument you declared that the soul was the mind, and that the mind had control of the body."

"Get into bed and keep still."

"No, sir! You stub your toe. It hurts. You let your mind turn to some"——

"I never said it!"

"Mr. Bowser, what cured your toothache—faith, imagination or liquids?"

"I—I—who's talking about toothache? Mrs. Bowser, you get into bed and go to sleep, and in the morning I'll have a long talk with you. We don't seem to be mated to each other, and the matter can probably be arranged to our mutual satisfaction and without publicity."

Next morning he got down stairs ahead of me [illegible] first [illegible] afterwards [illegible] some of the leaves scattered in the back yard.—Detroit Free Press.

Suspicious.

"What did Henry do while his wifey was away?" asked the dear creature on her return.

"I [illegible] upstairs nearly every evening," he replied [illegible].

"Who with?" was the next query in a tone of desperation.—New York Herald.

Startling Facts.

The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Humphries, of Indiana, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance Dr. Miles' great Restorative Nervine cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., was cured of 40 to 50 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. Trial bottles, and fine book of marvelous cures, free at D[illegible] & Co. and [illegible] Hoberman & Co. who recommend and guarantee this unequaled remedy.

Christopher Stanley, an old inventor of Elizabeth, New Jersey, committed suicide because he was unable to discover perpetual motion. He had experimented for years and spent hundreds of dollars. He was 74 years old, a veteran of the Franco-German war, and was a fine mechanic, but an eccentric character.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev. F. M. Shrout, pastor United Brethren church, Blue Mound, Kas., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 26 pounds in weight."

Arthur Love, manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousand friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at Focken's Drug Store. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00.

Scrofula

Is the most ancient and most general of all diseases. Scarcely a family is entirely free from it, while thousands everywhere are its suffering slaves. Hood's Sarsaparilla has had remarkable success in curing every form of scrofula. The most severe and painful running sores, swellings in the neck or goitre, humor in the eyes, causing partial or total blindness, yield to the powerful effects of this medicine. It thoroughly removes every impurity from the blood.

Scrofula

"My little daughter's life was saved, as we believe, by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before she was six months old she had 7 running scrofula sores. One physician advised the amputation of one of her fingers, to which we refused assent. When we began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, a marked improvement was noticed and by a continued use of it her recovery was complete. And she is now, being seven years old, strong and healthy." B. C. JONES, Aina, Lincoln County, Me.

WRECKED IN A TUNNEL.

The Cincinnati Southern Has a Fatal Wreck at Sommerset, Ky.

Special to Daily Star.]

Sommerset, Ky., Oct. 22—The Cincinnati Southern railroad, famous for its wrecks during the past year, had a fatal one this morning, occurring in the tunnel south of this city. A fireman and conductor were killed and two postal clerks and an express messenger were burned to death. There were others fatally injured. The scene in the tunnel is one of great horror.

Death of Henry C. Johnson.

Henry C. Johnson died at his home at No 289 north Main street, at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening. Death was the result of a complication of diseases. A good part of his life Mr. Johnson suffered from epilepsy, and for the past year his health has been feeble from heart and kidney troubles. He passed very peacefully to his long repose.

Mr. Johnson has always resided in Marion, being variously engaged in business during his active career. Of late years he was connected with the lumber business, and his face was a familiar one at the Linsley & Lawrence yards. Mr. Johnson was quiet and unassuming and a man against whom no one had a word to say. He was never married. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Prince of Wales' [illegible]

It is a question whether the Prince of Wales ever succeeds to the throne. His health is not robust; there are ugly rumors to the effect that Bright's disease has a hold upon him. But the prince cares little about being king. He does not court the anxieties and the onerous duties which his rise to that exalted station would necessarily involve; he is not an ambitious man; he loves and seeks the society of those whom he likes, and, true democrat that he is, he shudders when he thinks that there may come a time when he will be compelled to associate with men who cannot possibly have a human sympathy in common with himself.

His eldest son, the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, is a hulking, shiftless, good natured lubber, looking like his mother, but having neither his mother's tact or dignity nor his father's graciousness or strength of character. It seems to be a foregone conclusion that in the due course of time the duke will marry his cousin, the sweet and pretty daughter of the Princess of Teck.—Eugene Field in Chicago News.

Danger from Electric Fans.

An accident has just occurred in Georgia which shows the necessity of the guard which is now generally fixed over the ventilating fans worked by electric motors. The manager of the engineering department of an electric light works had been superintending the putting in of a new exhaust fan, and was watching its first trial. As he was feeling the shaft to see if the journals were hot the suction drew his hand in, and in an instant it was cut off between the wrist and the elbow. The fan was revolving at the rate of 1,000 revolutions a minute, and it is said that the arm was cut off as clean as if it had been done by a knife.—Detroit News

The Weather.

Slightly warmer; fair weather, followed by rains; southeasterly winds.

ILLUSIONS OF GREAT MEN.

Goethe states that he one day saw the exact counterpart of himself coming toward him

Pope saw an arm apparently come through the wall, and made inquiries after its owner

Byron often received visits from a specter, but he knew it to be a creation of the imagination.

Dr Johnson heard his mother call his name in a clear voice, though she was at the time in another city

Count Emmanuel Swedenborg believed that he had the privilege of interviewing persons in the spirit world.

Loyola, lying wounded during the siege of Pampeluna, saw the Virgin, who encouraged him to prosecute his mission.

Descartes was followed by an invisible person whose voice he heard urging him to continue his researches after truth.

Sir Joshua Reynolds, leaving his house, thought the lamps were trees, and the men and women bushes agitated by the breeze.

Ravaillac, while chanting the "Miserere" and "De Profundis" fondly believed that the sounds he emitted were of the nature and had the full effect of a trumpet

Oliver Cromwell, lying sleepless on his couch, saw the curtains open and a gigantic woman appear, who told him he would become the greatest man in England.

Ben Jonson spent the watches of the night an interested spectator of a crowd of Tartars, Turks and Roman Catholics, who rose up and fought round his armchair till sunrise

Bostock, the physiologist, saw figures and faces, and there was one human face constantly before him for twenty-four hours, the features and headgear as distinct as those of a living person

Benvenuto Cellini, imprisoned at Rome, resolved to free himself by self destruction, but was deterred by the apparition of a young woman of wondrous beauty, whose reproaches turned him from his purpose.

Napoleon once called attention to a bright star he believed he saw shining in his room, and said "It has never deserted me. I see it on every great occurrence urging me onward, it is an unfailing omen of success."

Nicolai was alarmed by the appearance of a dead body, which vanished and came again at intervals. This was followed by human faces, which came into the room, and, after gazing upon him for a while, departed. Nicolai knew they were but the effects of indigestion.

CURIOUS CUSTOMS.

Although among the Bedouins a wife is considered as a slave, singleness is looked upon as a disgrace

Persian women have little education and are reared in seclusion and ignorance, knowing nothing beyond the walls of their houses

Hindoo women are forbidden to read or write. Indeed, those who dare to indulge in such luxuries are often "accidentally" missing

Jewish women of the higher classes were secluded from public life, and passed their time with the distaff and spindle. At marriage the ceremonies lasted seven days.

In China a wife is never seen by her future master. Some relative bargains for the girl, the stipulated price is paid, and she is afterward a submissive slave.

The women of ancient Rome were treated with greatest respect. Still, they were not allowed to inherit property, and could be divorced by their husbands for counterfeiting their keys and for wine drinking

In Turkey woman is held in the most rigid seclusion. She must always appear veiled. With pigs and dogs she is forbidden to enter a mosque, and the Koran declares a woman who is unmarried to be in a state of reprobation.

Siberian women are raised as abject slaves, untidy in dress, and are bought with money or cattle. The most capricious whim of her husband is law, and should the latter desire a divorce he has only to tear the cap from her head

Among the Congo negroes when a man wishes a wife he secures one and keeps her on probation a year. If her temper and deportment are satisfactory, he at the end of the year formally marries her. But should she prove an encumbrance he sends her back to the parental roof.

RICH IN YEARS.

Mrs Rachael Stillwagon, of Flushing, L. I., is over 105 years old

Miss Nancy Baker, of Westfield, N. J., has celebrated her 100th birthday.

William Reese, who lives at Bolivia, Pa., at the reputed age of 103 years, has been reading with glasses for fifteen years. His father died at the age of 104 and his grand father at 106 years

Herr Goring, the oldest inhabitant of Hamburg, Germany, died there recently in his 100th year. He was with Napoleon in 1812 in the campaign of Moscow. He was a watchmaker by trade.

Hon Bonum Nye, who is 95 years old, is still the active treasurer of a savings bank in North Brookfield, Mass., and recently gave a reception at his residence that lasted from 4 o'clock in the afternoon till 10 in the evening

Mrs Ellen Brown, of Saco, Me., although only 75 years of age, has seen seven generations of her family. The seventh is represented by a 3 months-old child, to whose grandfather and grandmother Mrs. Brown is a great aunt

James Hubbart, of Mapleton, Marion county, is the oldest pensioner in Indiana. He is a survivor of the war of 1812 and has sixty living grandchildren. He is 106 years old and wrote his own name in receipt of the money until he was 103.

HARDSHIPS OF GENIUS.

Otway, the English dramatist, died prematurely, and through hunger.

Chatterton, the child of genius and misfortune, destroyed himself at 18.

Savage died in a prison at Bristol, where he was confined for a debt of $40.

Bentivoglio was refused admittance into a hospital he had erected himself.

The death of Collins was through neglect first causing mental derangement.

Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" was sold for a trifle to save him from the grip of the law

Fielding lies in the burying ground of the English factory at Lisbon, without a stone to mark the spot.

Milton sold his copyright of "Paradise Lost" for $72, in three payments, and finished his life in obscurity.

Camoens, the celebrated writer of the "Lusiad," the great Portugese epic, ended his life it is said, in an almshouse, and at any rate was supported by a faithful black servant who begged in the streets of Lisbon for him.—F. C. F in Queries.

TURF NOTES.

The 3-year-old filly Isis, by Bend Or, has been sold to Lord Marcus Beresford for £2,000.

It is stated that an offer of $12,000 has been refused for the Guy Wilkes colt Guy Kohl. He is held at $20,000.

The sale of the Schults Parkville farm stud realized $140,445, or a grand average of $1,276 77 for each horse sold.

It is said that Tenny has developed into the most pronounced kind of a rogue, and that it is almost an impossibility to get him to work properly.

Jockey Hamilton was presented with a handsome diamond ring by August Belmont for the manner in which he rode Potomac to victory in the Futurity of 1890.

C. J. Hamlin's Mambrino Maid won more money in the grand circuit races for 1890 than any other horse. Her winnings were $7,125. Dallas came next with $6,375.

Little "Jimmy" McLaughlin, a 12 year-old son of the famous jockey, has adopted the occupation of his father. The young horseman's first race was handled very creditably.

The Duke of Portland does not bet heavily; he does not believe in giving jockeys large presents. It is understood that all Watts gets for riding the St Leger winner is £25 over and above his fee of five guineas

Robert M. Bonner, of New York, has purchased the horse Alfred S of Orrin A. Hickok, the well known driver. The price is not announced, but is reported to have been $7,500. Alfred S is by Elmo and can trot close to 2 13

John Splan, the well known driver, has bought Navidad, the bay gelding 4 years old, by Whips—Lady Thorne, Jr., by Williams' Mambrino, from Senator Stanford, of California. Navidad's best record, 2.22¼, was made in the sixth heat of a race in Chicago.

La Salle, one of Allerton's colts, is said to have been driven faster quarters than Axtell or Allerton ever showed as yearlings. La Salle is the property of A. H. Farewell, of Independence, Ia., and John Hussy, the trainer, expects that the colt will beat Axtell's 2-year-old record

At a sale of thoroughbred yearlings held at Doncaster, England, a filly by Hermit sold for $20,000, a filly by Scottish Chief brought $19,380, a colt by Rosicrucian $11,000 and a colt by Macgregor $12,000. Fifty yearlings disposed of in one ring sold for $150,305, and in another string of fifty $96,775 was realized for the lot

The executive committee of the National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders have adopted new rules for the securing of standard records. The old method of trotting for "tin cup" records was abolished. The new way provides for a standard stake, in which each horse winning a heat in 2.30 or better is sent to the stable. The action of the committee was unanimous.

ARMY AND NAVY NOTES.

Lord Wolseley says that the day of cavalry fighting is over

The San Francisco's official speed is 19 68 knots, or just a trifle below that of the Philadelphia.

German scientists now urge the special fitness of aluminium bronze for artillery and small arms.

The fatigue cap is the only change in the United States army uniform that will probably be made.

The old naval academy ship Santee is to be dismasted and have her upper deck housed over the entire length.

The Baltimore was ordered not to arrive at a Swedish port before a certain date, which accounts for her lengthy voyage

It is proposed to establish a carrier pigeon loft at the naval academy for the purpose of making a series of experiments with the birds

Lieut. Colahan's new code of tactics for the naval landing parties has been completed and submitted to the secretary of the navy

Recent experiments with troops in the field have demonstrated the superiority of the Merriam type of knapsack over others now in use.

Capt Meade, who has charge of the naval exhibits for the Columbian exposition, proposes erecting a structure representing a modern battle ship

As a result of the recent College Point experiments the navy department will purchase three of the Patrick torpedoes for use at the torpedo station

Italy is experimenting with pens electrically controlled for the determination of the speed attained by a vessel between floating objects thrown from the deck of the vessel herself.

The Fiske position finder at Fort Hamilton shows an error of less than one-third of 1 per cent in determining the distance off of a target or of any well established point in the lower bay

Lieut McCrackin recommends the Bertillon system for the detecting of deserters. The system rests on the following measurements: Length and width of head, length of left little and middle fingers, length of forearm, left foot and right ear, height of figure, length of outstretched arms and length of the trunk.

NEGRO SUPERSTITIONS.

It is unlucky to feel the left eye quiver involuntarily.

If a young woman dreams of going to church it is a sign she will attend a wedding.

It is unlucky for the bride to turn back for another look in the mirror after she starts to meet the groom.

It is unlucky for either the bride or the groom on the way to the ceremony to stop for even an instant at the forks of the road.

It is bad luck for one to turn back after leaving the house for a forgotten article unless he first takes seven steps from the front door.

It is unlucky to meet a cross eyed negro who is a stranger, but the evil influence may be averted by passing him to the left instead of to the right.

To dream of storms, floods, of sailing on a stormy water, or struggling in the water or against a rainstorm, and sinking under the effort, means great grief and trouble.

It is unlucky to spill the salt, to drop a portrait, to point the finger at a cemetery, to see a mirror broken, to hear the death watch, to see a corpse with his eyes open, to place shoes in any position save that on which the toes point to a door or to cross two knives on the table.

It is good luck to see a bird like a hawk circling around in the air against the sun, to find a pin lying on the walk pointing in the direction the finder is going, to have a bird fly past him from left to right, to keep a black cat, to sneeze on Wednesday, to see a white owl or to be followed by a strange pig.

Improvements in Smoke Suppression.

Determined attempts are being made in Chicago to suppress the blinding smoke that is blown ashore from passing steam craft. An experiment was made recently to demonstrate the practicability of a new invention. A small tube with a perforated top, like that in a sprinkling can, was introduced into the smokestack, and through this steam could be injected upon the uprushing smoke, which immediately condensed. The little tube, with its jets and sprays of steam, is not a smoke consumer, but there seems little doubt of its utility in the prevention of smoke.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Fourteen Thousand People Present.

When Hiram M. Miltenberger led his blushing fiancee, Miss Nora M. Coulter, out on the race track of the Elkhart County Agricultural society at Goshen, Sept. 25, and was there married to her in the presence of 14,000 people, he was the hero of the biggest wedding, so far as attendance is concerned, that ever occurred in northern Indiana. The happy couple were the recipients of presents valued at $100, donated by the merchants of the city.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

A western genius proposes a novel idea in connection with the national encampment of the Grand Army in Detroit next year. It is that instead of the customary parade for all the veterans present to be grouped upon a huge raft upon the river to be viewed from passing boats.

Besides the above I carry Luzern Mills Natural Wool Underwear at $1.75; also the above's Camels Hair Underwear at $1.50.

This mill is noted for making the finest Sanitary Underwear in the United States, and the low prices can be given because I bought these goods last January.

Besides the above I carry a full line of Driviug and Dress Gloves, both Lined and Unlined.

In Knit Jackets I have a tremendous assortment, ranging in price from 65c to $3.50 in Jersey goods.

Everything is marked in plain figures and strictly one price.

—New, sweet, mixed pickles.
COFFY & STONE.

—New figs, raisins, currants, French prunes and dried grapes at Coffy & Stone's.

—Two bums were locked up Tuesday night by the police to keep them out of mischief.

—Charles Meily, who is now a resident of Springfield, was in the city over Sunday, the guest of his parents

—Mrs. Rev. Wiant left this morning for Columbus, to attend the Ohio State Baptists' meeting in session there.

—Mrs. Wm. Harrington and Mrs Chas. McGuire left Tuesday for Delaware, to visit relatives and friends.

—Mrs. George W. Holland, of Warren, Ohio is the guest of her sister, Mrs. George May, on east South street

—Miss Thomas and Mrs Cook, of Bradford county, Pa., are visiting their brother, W. E. Thomas, at the Presbyterian parsonage

—Miss Jennie Meily, of Columbus, who has been the guest of Miss Lelia Meily for the past couple weeks, has returned to her home

—C. P. Gaffney, the man arrested at Cleveland and brought here Tuesday for embezzlement, has been released by settling the affair. Gaffney secured the amount due Mr. Love and the charge was withdrawn

—Chief Engineer Irwin of the Big Four, says that [illegible] bridges have been completed on the division between Indianapolis and [illegible] and the other bridges strengthened and now it is safe to run the Big Four's heaviest engines over them at any desired speed

—Since July 1 the Big Four has sold $[illegible] of its new stock to its stockholders, realizing therefrom $[illegible]. The employes of the company are again becoming stockholders in considerable numbers. All of these old holders, when the old stock went to $[illegible], sold out.

—Delaware Press: Wm. Sayles, of Concord, has returned from a four months' trip through the west and northwestern states in the interest of the Huber works of Marion. He reports a good success in large sales for his company's works, and that the machines everywhere gave excellent satisfaction

—It is a matter of note that there was no rowdyism exhibited at Music Hall Tuesday evening. Manager Sargent has apparently succeeded in checking the whistling element with his conspicuous warnings. It is hoped it will continue as respectful. Now when some people begin to applaud with their hands and keep their feet quiet, there will be another point gained worthy of attention

Common Pleas Court.

The case of F. L. Johnston against Pauline Hummer, to recover for the loss of a horse which was killed during the summer by hard driving, was settled Tuesday by defendant agreeing to pay plaintiff $110 and costs.

The partition case of Elizabeth Young against Stephen Kerr and others was settled by the parties agreeing to quit claiming their interests in the lands held by other heirs. This disposes of all the cases except the two hotels, the Kerr House of this city and the Kerr House at Nevada. These will probaly be brought up in future.

The case of D. H. Porter against Philip Schwaderer, a suit brought to recover $81.25, because of the failure to fulfill an agreement to sell 65 bushels of clover seed at a stipulated price, was settled by the attorneys before coming to trial. The suit had been appealed from 'Squire Imbody's court at Green Camp.

The case of John Markey, Jr., against Henrietta Markey, for divorce was taken up at 11:30 o'clock today, but was continued for further evidence.

Clara I. Brown was granted a decree of divorce from Martin Brown, on the grounds of willful desertion, neglect of duty, etc.

The Gladiator at Music Hall.

A good sized and intelligent audience Tuesday evening witnessed the production for the first time in this city of "Nero, the Gladiator," by Robert Downing. It is not essential to say here that Mr. Downing is a great actor, his world wide reputation attests that fact, suffice that the Music Hall audience showed delight in frequent and hearty applause, the arena scene was possibly the most exciting, and the audience was not satisfied until "Nero" and Nevadnia were brought before the curtain at its close. The support was a so good, and altogether it was an excellent performance

It is but natural, however, that the part of Nevadnia, being taken by the [illegible] of the company when the leading lady, Miss Blair, was in the house, sitting, caused some considerable dissatisfaction. Marion people are capable of appreciating the talent of Miss Blair and it was a treat to the audience to have the pleasure of seeing a splendid Nevadnia rather than the weak presentation given. There was no apparent excuse for Miss Blair's non appearance, and when Marion audiences pay a high price they want the full show

Salvator's Speed.

While the public is still marveling over Salvator's wonderful performance in running a mile in 1:35½ there are few who have, through comparison and analysis, sought to realize what a terrific burst of speed this is. It is nearly forty miles an hour—a rate averaged by very few of our fastest trains. There are 5,280 feet in a mile, so that for every one of these ninety-five seconds—for every beat of a man's pulse—this wonderful horse covered 59 3-10 feet of ground. The shortest space of time noted by the turfman's watch is a quarter of a second—an interval so brief that the eye can hardly observe the mind can hardly appreciate it. Yet in every one of these 382 quarters of a second that magnificent creature leaped 16 3-10 feet. Such are the amazing results of careful breeding as exhibited in the American race horse. Is the human race improving in the same ratio? Scarcely.—Cincinnati Enquirer

Strangely Imprisoned in Bed.

By an explosion of hot air and gas in the air [illegible] at the Clinton blast furnace at Pittsburg several thousand dollars' worth of damage was done. The accident was caused by the reversal of air engines [illegible] receiver. The effects of the force of the terrible concussion were visible in all the houses within a square of the furnace. In one house Thomas M[illegible], a laborer, who was asleep in a folding bed was awakened by a very tight squeezing sensation. The concussion of the blast had loosened the fastenings of his bed and it folded up with him in it. His cries for help brought the other members of the family to the rescue.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Mr. Gould's Wealth.

Russell Sage's recent interview makes out Jay Gould a richer man than he is generally credited with being. Mr. Sage says that he is the heaviest owner of securities in the world, his income alone from dividends being $[illegible] a year. [illegible] from $[illegible] to $[illegible]. It is understood that Mr. Gould aims to make his wealth [illegible] per cent., and if this is the [illegible] Mr. Sage knows what he is talking about, Mr Gould will [illegible] up several pegs in [illegible] of the country's rich men.—New York [illegible]
